All this was py the Tousian No. Company, who had a done many years ago, when the property was a mone worthiesa." Well, the parrots, after all the clerical teaching, do not altogether agosa. The Chronicle Poll says it was given to the company-church; and the Yates street Philomach, who escillates between the ponderous ideas of "stolen twaddle," and "surreptitions slander," asserts that it was given to Mr. Oridge. We shall not however, waste much time over this diwersity of opinion, more than by reminding the Church party, of the necessity of making their stories sgree. It is rather a suspicious circumstance to find an uncortainty as to who was actually the recipient of disputed property. But leaving saide these different statespeats, we find both authorities agreeing that the land was given away at an early period in the colony's history by the Hudson's Bay Company. Whos they tell us that the Church Reserve did not belong to Mr. Clidge or even to the What they tell us that the Unuren near-re-did not belong to Mr. Cridge or even to the Company Church, but to the Company itself, as late down as 1862, we are obliged to ac-cept, as, between these suborities at least the statement of the head officials of the Hud-cept, as, between these authorities at least, the statement of the head officials of the Hudsen Bay Company. The property to be conveyed to the Crown from the Company pursuant to the Indenture of 1862, according to the Dain of Newcastle, according to Governor Berens, and according to agent McTavish, was, "ground for the site of a harbormaster's office and entrance to a public haft; barracks and post office let; school reserve, church reserve and comotory, parsonage, and public park; Government reserve across James Bay." Here we have the Church Bay Company. Now there is a very simple proposition before the public. If the Hudson Bay Company gaves the Charch Reserve prior to 1862 to the Church or to Mr. Oridge, it could scarcely be in their power to give it, again to the Crown—at least it is not in accordance with business Ideas in the Crown—at least it is not in accordance with business Ideas in the United States of Sour to A and then to dispose of them to B.
